Alipes acquires EET Nordic Group from Capidea

The Danish private equity fund, Capidea, has divested its shareholding in EET Nordic Group A/S to Alipes, a Swedish investment company sponsored by Inter-IKEA and IKANO. The management team remains in place and continues to hold a minority stake in EET Nordic Group.

Erik Balleby Jensen, Partner at Capidea says: "The EET Nordic Group has continuously grown its earnings since Capidea acquired the Company and cemented its position as the leading European niche distributor of IT components. EET Nordic Group has strongly delivered on the business plan we agreed with management and reached a size exceeding the investment scope of Capidea. Accordingly Capidea has decided to divest our shareholdings in EET Nordic Group. We are sure that Alipes will be a strong owner and we wish EET Nordic Group continued success with its international expansion under the new ownership".

"The aftermarket for IT components and spare parts is an exceptionally attractive market for us and EET Nordic Group is best positioned to consolidate this fast growing segment. The scalability of the Company's business model and the resilience to economic downturns were the key investment attractions for us" says Gunnar Selving, Partner at Alipes.

"We are very impressed by this highly driven, focused and skilled management team and the solid Company they have built together with the employees. To get the opportunity to contribute to EET Nordic Group is very stimulating" says Richard Silén, Partner at Alipes.

CEO in EET Nordic Group, John Skovbro Thomas, says: "With Alipes as new owners we have a strong platform which allows us to further accelerate our expansion in Europe".

Nordea Corporate Finance has acted as financial advisor to Capidea.
